POLITICAL PARADE

By CLEM WHITAKER

With both Federal and State tax collectors grazing in the same pasture, the grass is getting very short, indeed and it looks like there might be a battle brewing reminiscent of the long-standing feud between cattlemen and sheepmen!

It's gotten so bad that 80 per cent of Federal taxes and 55 per cent of State taxes are now collected from the same tax sources, according to a survey just concluded by the State Board of Equalization, and both sides are threatening to put up "No Trespassing" signs.

The luckless taxpayer whose name appears on both tax lists is caught right in the middle—and to make a bad matter worse, Uncle Sam is getting more exacting every day.

Two years ago, the Board reports, Federal tax collections in California aggregated $315,329,683, or $45.65 per capita. This year, Federal collections in California advanced to $481,853,000, or $70 per capita. Next year, the Federal "take" in California is expected to total $747,353,000, or $108 per capita. And that, in the language of the song, certainly "ain't hay"!

"In the short space of three years," comments Fred E. Stewart, Oakland members of the Board, "the Federal share of our California tax dollar will have increased from less than one-third to more than one-half.

"That sharp increase in Federal taxes makes it more imperative that the problem of tax competition between the Federal and State governments be solved. It has been suggested that the several sources of revenue be segregated to the end that each government would restrict itself to the imposition of those taxes which can be administered by it most economically and practically. This plan recognizes that taxation of the same property and objects by both the Federal and State governments, although legally possible, is undesirable and unjust to the taxpayer."

Committees of the American Bar association and of the National Tax conference are both at work on plans to effect coordination between Federal and State tax programs which would eliminate the conflicts now prevalent.

The lawman, who just pays taxes—and has nothing to do with levying them—certainly will agree with Equalizer Stewart that there is no percentage in the Federal and State governments working both sides of the same street. As it now stands there are Federal income taxes and State income taxes, Federal gas taxes and State gas taxes, Federal corporation taxes and State corporation taxes. And the grass just isn't that long!

Philip Joseph Sanfilippo received the degree of Doctor of Medicine, from the University of California at Berkeley at the commencement exercises held recently in the Memorial Stadium.

High School PTA Discusses Plans For 1941-42 Year

A special chairman meeting of Campbell Union High School P.-T. A. was held recently to discuss and plan the 1941-42 school year's activities.

Tentative plans were formulated for the program and it was decided to have different districts take complete charge of one meeting a year, the president of that unit to act as chairman.

Following is the schedule of months for the different districts:

October, executive board; November, Willow Glen; December, trustees; January, Almaden; February, Campbell High; March, Cambrian; April, Campbell Grammar; May, Campbell High teachers.

The finance and budget plans were also outlined. There is to be a garden party in the early fall, followed by two turkey card parties in November and December.

Sometime in the early part of 1942 a variety show will be presented.

Arrangements were made for a membership drive to be launched immediately at the opening of the school term in the fall.

A dessert luncheon was served by the president. Attending were Mrs. C. E. Fagalde, finance and budget chairman; Mrs. Alfred Hansen, first vice president and program chairman; Mrs. Henry Jensen, membership chairman; Mrs. Clarence Warren, secretary; Willard Van Dyke, principal of the school; and Mrs. Anthony Jurras, president.

He told about boys' life in camp and said that the majority of the boys are well behaved and gentlemen and they hope that at the end of the term they can send them back not only as good as they came to them, but better mentally, spiritually and physically. FLAG DAY

The Red, White and Blue is a grand Flag. Never has it been sullied. Never has it bowed in defeat. It flew at the halyards when this nation came into being. It flew, through turmoil and strife, when this nation was wrent by Civil War. It flew in the Gay Nineties and it flew in Depression. It flies now, a symbol of freedom, in a world shorn of reason.

Why do we love this Flag? Because we love to be free men. Why is it so important now? Because most of the world is in chains. Because liberty, today, is as priceless a possession as it was when this nation was created.

When Flag Day comes on June 14, probably we shall all be at our given occupations. Probably we shall be a little preoccupied with the business of the day. But when, on that day, we pass Old Glory, let's give thanks—just for a moment—that we live in America. Let's give thanks that we live under the Stars and Stripes. Let's say, very humbly: "God Bless America!"

EUROPE COMES NEARER

That new Douglas bomber, the B-19, the world's largest airplane, has taken off from Santa Monica. The Army is giving it a work-out, trying its wings.

What of it you say? Isn't it just another airplane?

Well, let's consider: This new plane, which we have built, will fly from the United States to Europe and back again—carrying 18 tons of bombs in addition to its load of gasoline!

And if we can build such a plane, perhaps Germany can. Possibly Japan can.

It's a small world; truly it is. A war-like world, too. And we sit right in the middle of it!

UNLIMITED NATIONAL EMERGENCY

By proclamation of the President of the United States, this is a period of unlimited national emergency—a period of such grave crisis that our very existence as a free country may be in jeopardy; a period in which the welfare and security of the nation must come first, and the rights and privileges of the individual, second. We have taken the last step short of war!

During the week which has gone since President Roosevelt broadcast his momentous decision to the American people, we have begun, slowly and soberly, to understand its full significance. We are no longer workers or employers, Baptists or Catholics, Republicans or Democrats. We are first of all Americans. And the President made it quite plain that we all have a job to do in defense of America, irrespective of whether we don a uniform, or simply buckle down to the job of production at hme.

The future of free enterprise is at stake, the President bluntly stated. The future of labor is at stake, for in a Nazi-controlled world, Hitler would fix the wages and hours—and unions would become relics. Freedom of speech; freedom of press; freedom of religious worship—every liberty we have is at stake, for the world can't survive half-free and half-slave.

Production must not and cannot be interrupted by strikes or other labor disturbances, the President declared. Government conciliation and mediation machinery has been made available—and must be used by both capital and labor, without stoppage of work! The hour is late and we have much to do. We shall not lose our rights and liberties if we put our shoulders to the wheel and work with a will to save our democracy. But we shall lose everything if we falter and are forced to surrender to the Nazi war machine. Thus the President spoke as he laid down the rules of this new period of unlimited national emergency. We have a job to do; let's get at it!

HERE'S TO BACK-SEAT DRIVERS!

Wonders will never cease. A day or two ago, James M. Carter, director of the State Motor Vehicle department, told the members of the State Federation of Women's Clubs that the back-seat driver, far from being a pest, is an aid to safety and an asset to motoring humanity.

"Don't be ashamed of being a back-seat driver," Mr. Carter told the ladies. "California needs more of them. It's a highly useful and honorable calling.

It isn't nagging to ask the members of your family to drive more carefully. It's just good commonsense!"

Now, gentlemen, where does the driver sit? We ask you!

THE MAN WHO PAYS

With good reason, a special senatorial committee is turning critical eyes on Camp Blanding, Fla. This large training camp for selectees was scheduled to cost $9 million, but before the last nail is driven home its cost will have soared to $20 million, more than a 200 per cent increase. The difference will have to come out of the pocket of the man on the street who has no objection to taxes for defense, but earnestly hopes that committee will clamp the lid tight henceforth on taxes for profiteering.

HELP THE U. S. O.!

The U. S. O. is out this week to make the U. S. A. a happier place to live in for the 1,200,000 young men in the nation's armed forces.

U. S. O. is the abbreviation of the United Service Organizations, representing all denominations, who are now embarked on a fund-raising campaign in the United States to provide wholesome recreation facilities outside army camps and cantonments. The Federal Government is going part way on the job and providing the money for the buildings. It's now the work of the U. S. O. to raise the few millions needed to put the recreation and entertainment facilities into the buildings. And that's where you and I and everyone else can do our bit with a contribution, large or small, for Uncle Sam's Army.

Obviously, this has nothing to do with convoys, Dakar or any other issue of foreign policy. Whatever your views on these matters, you can help the U. S. O. do a good and worthy deed for the defenders of the United States of America.

FAREWELL, SHERLOCK!

The long arms of Nazi censors have now reached out to plant the "nein" sign on—of all things—the English, French and America detective story.

The mystery-story loving publics of the democracies may not have known it, but according to the grim-faced pundits of Berlin, law and order are threatened and respect for the police force is undermined by hair-raising spine-tinglers. So no more of these crime thrillers for the German public.

A sense of humor has never been one of the Nazis' characteristics. That lack is conspicuously in evidence again with this assertion that detective yarns—in which private sleuths invariably outwit members of the regular police—tend to undermine state authority.

Fortunately, it's their loss not ours. They can keep their censors, their secret police and strong-armed Gestapo squads. We prefer—when the mood strikes us—to continue keeping company with the shrewd, lean-jawed Sherlock Holmes of Baker St., London, with Honolulus' wily, aphoristic Charlie Chan, with the suave and debonair Philo Vance, the bright-eyed little Frenchman, M. Poirot, the gay and nonchalant quipster, Nick Charles, and that lone wolf sleuth, Ellery Queen.

Why do these celebrated characters provoke the wrath of the Third Reich? Your guess is as good as ours, but we suspect it's because they use their heads, do their own thinking, and are rugged individualists—than which nothing is more verboten in the land of the Gestapo!

STATE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION

(In a new series of articles on "Our State Government," Commissioner George R. Reilly, our member of the State Board of Equalization, plans a streamlined analysis of the most important departments of state government, and their functions. The series when complete will give a comprehensive and informative picture to our readers as to how state government in California works.)

The Deparment of Motor Vehicles over which a director, appointed by the Governor presides administers and enforces all provisions of the motor vehicle code and other laws regulating the operation of vehicles on the public highways. The department is composed of five divisions, among these the California State Highway Patrol.

The division of registration issues license plates annually for all motor vehicles in the state. The department collects some 25 million dollars annually in registration fees of which more than 20 million is turned to the state treasury for the uses of state government.

James M. Carter is the present motor vehicle director. E. Raymond Cato is head of the California Highway Patrol.

California's law enforcement department is headed by the Attorney General whose duties include the prosecution for defense of all cases to which the state is a party, and to institute suits on behalf of the state. The attorney general also exercises supervisory power over district attorneys and other law enforcement officers and guides the various district attorneys in the discharge of their duties. He is required to render legal opinions to all state departments and officers.

In addition to his other duties the attorney general serves as a member of various state commissions. His term is for four years and he is elected by the people. The present attorney general is Earl Warren.

The State Department of Institutions is operated under a director of institutions named by the Governor, assisted by four boards each of which oversees the functions of the various state institutions. In this department is centered the management of institutions for the feeble minded, various state homes for the blind, the state narcotic hospital, correctional institutions and hospitals for the insane. The department also has a bureau of juvenile research. In the efficient hands of this department rests the care and rehabilitation of thousands of our unfortunate citizens. Aaron J. Rosenoff is director.

The State department of Investment over which the director of investment presides has to do with banking, building and loan supervision, corporations, insurance and real estate. The director and the real estate board are both named by the Governor. Departmental functions include the supervision over state banking and building and loan activities; regulations controlling the activities of corporations and insurance companies and control of California's real estate industry. George J. Knox is state superintendent of banks. Building and loan commissioner is Ralph W. Evans, also named by the Governor.

OUR HIGH SCHOOL

The booklet "Things Worth Knowing About Your School" was compiled for Public Schools Week, and the following articles are taken from it. —Editor.

DEAN OF GIRLS AND SCHOOL NURSE

Mrs. Alfreda Runge

The work of the school nurse is devoted to bringing about in the school, home and community conditions of health which are conducive to the best growth and development of the students. An attempt is made to protect boys and girls against the contraction of disease. The attention of parents is called to the existence of physical defects. Teachers are notified when such defects are discovered, particularly those of sight and hearing.

Close cooperation is maintained between such agencies as the County Health department, the County hospital, Social Service agencies, and the Parent-Teachers association.

In cases of absence, home calls or telephone calls to the home are made to determine the cause and to give assistance when necessary. After a student has been out of school because of a communicable disease, re-admission is allowed only after approval of the County health authorities.

Regular health inspection of the students is made in which attention is paid to nutrition, skin, posture, teeth nose, throat and eyes. Height and weight measurements are taken twice a year either by the nurse or the physical education staff. Audiometer tests are given every three years. The tuberculin testing program of the Santa Clara County T. B. association is carried out here every year and x-ray pictures are taken when it appears advisable. An individual health card is kept for every student on which his health history is carefully recorded.

Mrs. Runge gives first aid when accidents or illness occur on the school premises, and often takes children to their homes when they are too ill to remain in school. She checks symptoms which are manifested and if necessary recommends that a physician be called.

In serving as dean of girls, as well as school nurse, assistance is given girls who have problems facing them. An attempt is made to find work for those who have financial needs. Often girls are aided in finding homes where they may work for their board and room. Clothing is distributed to both needy boys and girls.

Shipka Pass

Shipka pass on the Balkan peninsula extends between Bulgaria and the territory formerly known as Eastern Rumelia and since 1885 has been incorporated with Bulgaria. It has a height of 4,600 feet above sea level and is 87 miles from Rustchuk and 50 miles northeast of Philippopolis. Ice Follies of 1941 Continue Colorful Performances

A bit of the old South during the colorful Aunt Bella period of plaidskirts, lace pantalets, beaver hats and frock coats make "Old Southland" one of the most colorful and interesting episodes of the new Ice Follies of 1941 now showing nightly at Winterland, in San Francisco.

Old Southland" features Evelyn Chandler, America's queen on the ice, as Belle of the South, and the famous comedy team of Shipstad and Johnson as the Colonel and his Lady.

It opens with a charming routine by 16 southern misses and gentlemen, a routine that was said by one Hollywood critic, to be the "finest ever seen on ice, a stage or dance floor anywhere."

Including all the dash and verve of her previous appearances, Miss Chandler has added thrilling new tricks and skillful figure skating in a novel manner.

Shipstad and Johnson make a unique and pompous entrance to lead up to the type of number by which they have set the high standard for all figure skating comedy.

Combining the elements of beauty, comedy and thrills, the number still retains the charming atmosphere of "Gone With the Wind." It has been greeted everywhere by rounds of applause and vigorous nods of approval.

Transportation Varied

Transportation in Quebec province, Canada, is perhaps the most varied in the world. Motor cars speed along the highways, a dog hauls a milk cart along a by-path, airports greet airway travelers, river barges sail down the St. Lawrence, and yachts cruise along inland waterways. Even oxen are used to pull carts.

What it Meant in English

By IRVIN S. COBB

A CERTAIN newspaper man in New York is fond of gathering up stories of metropolitan life. Once upon a time a Russian who furnishes him with tips on doings among his own people, brought word of a big wedding celebration that was going to take place in one of the Russian colonies over near the East River. The journalist expressed a desire to attend the festivities.

"Dass is easy," said his friend—"so you get a hajjek!"

"A hajjek, eh?" said the puzzled journalist. "But you see I don't even know the couple. Why should they send me an invitation?"

"No, no!" said the Russian, "no an invitation—a hajjek! So you get a hajjek, you go by the vedding; you dance mit the bride; you haf a fine time!"

"Say," demanded the puzzled American, "how in thunder do I get one of these hajjeks?"

"My friend," said the Russian, "listen! You go by the hall where is the vedding. You go in. You gif your hat to the boy und for fifty cents you buy a hajjek — und there you are!"

So the newspaperman spent half a dollar on a hat check and danced with the bride.

Cans Snow

According to the American magazine, in the springtime, just before the snow melts, Mrs. John A. Oliver of Jordan Valley, Idaho, can be seen busily canning snow. Later on, she uses the water melted from the snow for shampooing hair, and washing delicate fabrics. Mrs. Oliver claims the water at her place is too hard for such purposes.
